Christogram (IHS)

What it is: IHS comes from the first three Greek letters of "Iesous" (Jesus): Iota, Eta, and Sigma.

Meaning: This symbol honors the name of Jesus and is commonly found in ancient texts and in churches today.

Agnus Dei (Lamb of God)

What it is: The Agnus Dei, or "Lamb of God," is often shown with a banner or cross.

Meaning: This title, given to Jesus by John the Baptist, represents Christ as the perfect sacrificial lamb, fulfilling Old Testament prophecies and taking away the sins of the world through his death on the cross.

Alpha and Omega

What it is: The first (Α or \alpha) and last (Ω or \omega) letters of the Greek alphabet.

Meaning: This symbol, from the book of Revelation, affirms that Christ is the eternal beginning and end of all things—the Creator, Judge, and Lord over all time and history.

Fish (Ichthys)

What it is: The Ichthys, or fish, is an acrostic for the Greek phrase "Iesous Christos Theou Yios Soter," which translates to "Jesus Christ, Son of God, Savior."

Meaning: It was a secret symbol used by early Christians facing persecution. It also recalls the miracle of the multiplication of fish.

Holy Spirit Dove

What it is: A dove, often depicted with a halo or rays of light.

Meaning: This symbol represents the Holy Spirit, based on the account of Jesus' baptism where the Spirit descended upon him like a dove. It signifies purity, peace, divine presence, and God's transforming power.

St. Peter's Cross

What it is: An upside-down cross.

Meaning: This is a symbol of the martyrdom of the Apostle Peter, who was crucified upside down because he felt unworthy to die in the same way as Jesus. It represents his deep reverence for Christ.

Jerusalem Cross

What it is: A large central cross with four smaller crosses in each quadrant.

Meaning: The large cross symbolizes Christ, while the four smaller ones represent the spread of the Gospel to the four corners of the world. It is also said to represent the five wounds of Christ and his victory through the cross.

Chi Rho

What it is: The Chi Rho is one of the earliest symbols for Jesus, combining the first two Greek letters of "Christ," Chi (Χ) and Rho (Ρ).

Meaning: It's a sign of Christ's identity and was a significant symbol for early Christians.
